The Face of Interior Design Mimi Wilson

MW Design Group

Mimi Wilson was born to be a creative thinker. When it comes to interior design, her approach is to design with purpose, function, form, and to create something that is always unique to the owner(s) of the space.

For the last 15 years, she has been offering interior design services and home furnishings to clients across the region, including 8 years as the Principal Designer and CEO of MW Design Group.

When it comes to creating a design, it's the client's room and their story to tell. Mimi believes it's important for clients to feel joy and ease as she guides them through their design journey. Her job is to elevate the room to its potential so clients fall in love with their space either all over again or for the first time.

Located in Haymarket, the member of the American Society of Interior Designers has spent most of her life in Northern Virginia. She and her husband are high school sweethearts from West Springfield and now have two wonderful boys. Mimi loves her community and spends time volunteering with USA Swimming.

One of Mimi's proudest accomplishments was winning the Dream Room awards, which garnered votes from industry experts, such as design masters, artists, and magazine editors which helps validate all of the hard work she has put in along the way. But to Mimi, nothing beats when she watches her clients' faces light up with joy at a reveal.

"The concept of home is essential to the human experience; good interior design, therefore, is a prerequisite to the quality of life within your home. It's such a personal environment for my clients; and for me to contribute to that, it's an honor."
